Officials Begin Investigation Of Herrin Massacre, With Little Hope Definite Action Will Result

Moves by Coroner and State's Attorney at Demand of Governor Small.

GRAND JURY WILL SIT

Prosecutors Say Securing Evidence Will Be Virtually Impossible, Even Though Participants in Killings Openly Boast of Part They Played.

By Associated Press.

HERRIN, Ill., June 23.—Officials investigation of the mine war in which from 27 to 45 were killed near here began today, in response to last night's demands from Governor Small for action by local authorities, when Coroner McGowan announced an inquest would be held immediately and state's attorney D. L. Duty stated a special grand jury would be convened after the inquest to investigate the massacre.

The state's attorney expressed doubt of any definite result, saying it was virtually impossible to obtain evidence. He insisted, however, every possible step would be taken.

HERRIN, Ill., June 23.—Herrin today remained quiet after the disorders of yesterday in which at least 27 men were killed and an unknown number wounded when 5,000 union miners and 30-impoverished steam shovel men and laborers working in the Foster strip pit of the Southern Illinois Coal Company.

County officials maintained that group no one remained to work in the mine that was a guarantee against further outbreaks and held that the 1,000 members of the Illinois National Guard ordered to mobilize in Chicago for possible duty here were unnecessary.

That the death list would be increased seemed to be the consensus of opinion. Fifteen bodies were weighted about the necks and cast into a pond, a man to a correspondent of the Associated Press, and the area over which killing occurred was estimated at 15 square miles. In the wounded list there were 26 in the Herrin hospital, three in the hospital at Carbondale and a number of others—union striking miners—believed to be in their homes. There was little question that the number of dead would never be known.

Nobody seemed inclined to drag the pond where the bodies had been thrown and no searching parties have been organized to seek bodies in the woods. All reports agree that the killings were massacres, that the victims were shot down and surrendered to the attacking forces.

Many persons in the county uphold the slaughter as a rightful action of judgment. Citizens on street corners laughed and joked over the affair and boasted that "some of these days people will realize that it doesn't pay to try to break a strike in Williamson county."

In the morgue women and children as they passed through commented on the accuracy of the shooters who brought down the victims. Men who boast they were in the attacking forces related with pride stories of what in war-time would be called brutality.

CLERK WITH HALF DOZEN WOUNDS TELLS STORY OF BATTLE

By Associated Press.

HERRIN, Ill., June 23.—Joseph O'Rourke, Chicago, commissary clerk at the Foster strip mine, gave the most vivid account of the fight. His story was related as he tossed in pain from a dazed, bullet-riddled body through his body. His story follows:

"I was sent down here by the Herrin Coal Company of Chicago. I had no idea what I was running into. I don't blame the miners much for attacking us for we were unarmingly being used as dupes to keep them from their jobs."

"We were given arms when we arrived and a machine gun was set up at one corner of the mine. Guards were with us all the time and most of the guards were touch fellows sent by a Chicago detective agency. I wanted to leave town of my own volition. We never got them, perhaps the buses did. When we saw the miners approaching Wednesday afternoon we did not know what to do. The guards prepared to fight. Most of us workers wanted to surrender."

"Through the night, the bullets rained on us. We sought shelter as we could. About sunrise we put up the white flag. The miners poured in and we surrendered our arms."

"Up to this time not one of us had been injured. I know of, although I understand that several of the miners had been shot. The miners spread around quickly and did not gather in groups of three and six. The men then were rushed off in different directions. Some of them tried to run but they were shot down as fast as they moved."

"One miner asked who was the machine gun operator. Some one pointed on him out and he was shot in his tracks and his body laid over the machine gun. They tied five men with me, took us out on the road and told us to run. We ran and hundreds of bullets followed us. We staggered on many times, but they kept on pulling the others down with us. Several bullet holes being in me already."

"I laid there while men came up and fired more shots into us from three or four feet. Then everything blacked out. I woke up later and begged for water but there was not a drop. I remember being dragged along the road but I don't know what by. Then they brought us to the hospital."

Juniata Miners Beaten; Two of Assaults Jailed

Two miners working at the Juniata mine Thursday were beaten yesterday afternoon when attacked by a mob of strikers. The two miners were leaving the mine property after a day's work when the trouble occurred.

Peter McGee, who has been working for some time at the Juniata mine, was rendered unconscious by blows from heavy sticks in the hands of the strikers. The other miner, Roy Jones, was also badly hurt.

State Police at Dunbar answered a call and dispersed the mob after having shot John Protosick and Edward Dennis. These two are alleged to have used revolvers to intimidate the working miners. They were taken to the county jail and will await trial on charges of assault and battery and pointing firearms.

GOVERNMENT LIKELY TO TAKE MEASURES TO END COAL STRIKE

Action of Some Kind Probable During First Two Weeks Of Next Month.

MAY APPEAL TO CONGRESS

For Authority to Intervene if a Settlement Cannot Be Negotiated; Contingents Warned of Compulsory Arbitration or Government Control.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—While no definite action has been outlined by government officials, with a view to meeting the coal strike situation, other than the Hoover program for voluntary price control during the emergency, there are well founded rumors current here that some definite kind of action will be taken during the first two weeks of July with a view to bringing about a settlement that will permit the resumption of coal mining operations.

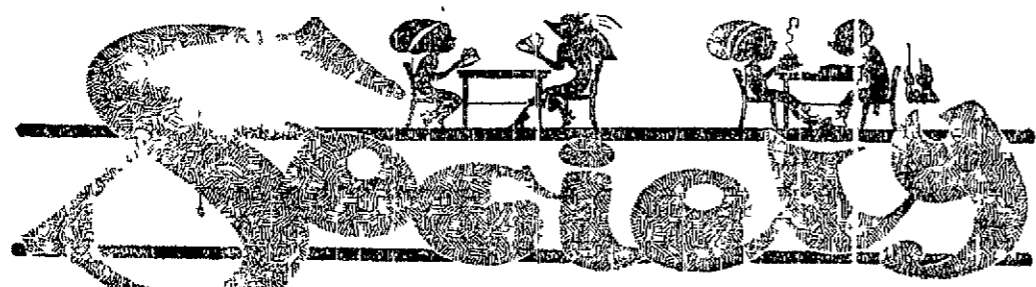

Should the threatened strike of railroad employees take place as scheduled, and the lines handling the non-union coal are tied up on July 1, it is not unlikely that the government, which is ready for such an emergency, will act at once in an effort to avoid a brief famine. If such action becomes necessary the next step will be to bring about a settlement of the strike. Even if the railroad strike does not materialize, of which there is considerable doubt at the capital, it is believed measures will be employed to bring the operators and miners together for the negotiation of a compromise. Moral suasion is at present the only force the government has at its command. If the two warring groups refuse to come together to talk over their differences, it is hardly possible that Congress may be appealed to provide authority for the government to interfere.

This statement is taken to imply a warning to the contending parties in the coal strike that unless they get together Congress will enact a compulsory arbitration law or place the operation of the mines under government control. The first of these plans is highly objectionable to both employers and employees and the second is even more strongly opposed by the operators.

Government officials have been conducting investigations of the strike situation with much care and the question is expressed that they are not on a basis of goodwill to terminate the struggle than at any time since the strike began, but just how this is to be brought about is not clear at this time.

According to the echoes from the Cabinet meetings the Administration is generally perplexed by the situation which it faces. It wants a strike brought to an end, knowing as it does that there can not be a three or four month suspension of coal production in this country without somebody paying for it—somebody other than the operator and the strike immediately concerned.

But what to do and how to do it are questions which the Administration seems still unable to answer, but it is becoming increasingly probable that some decisive step to end the industrial war will be taken by the government by or before the middle of July,

BLIND MAN ODDLY GIFTED
Gave Correct Answer in Forty-Five Seconds to Problem Involving Billions in Figures.

Some years ago the London Lancet cited a remarkable case in which extraordinary ability in arithmetic calculation was associated with general mental inferiority, if not actual insanity.

The patient was completely blind, and was able to make elaborate calculations, such as square root of any number running into four figures, in an average of four seconds, and the square root of any number running into six figures in six seconds.

These are more trifles, however, compared with the following:
He was asked how many grains of corn there would be in any one of 64 boxes, with one in the first, two in the second, four in the third, eight in the fourth and so on in succession. He gave the answers for the fourteenth (8,192), for the eighteenth (131,072) and the twenty-fourth (8,388,608) instantaneously, and he gave the figures for the forty-eighth box (140,737,488,355,520) in six seconds.

Further on the request to give the total in all the boxes up to and including the sixty-fourth he furnished the correct answer (18,446,744,079,690,554,615) in 45 seconds.—Scientific American.

SLIM CHANCE FOR BURGLARS
"Safe" in New York Banking House Might Be Said to Be Gibraltar of Vaults.

The building occupied by the banking house of Morgan, in New York, is said to contain the strongest security vault in the world, a vault that is proof against fire, water, mobs and burglars.

The vault is twenty-three feet wide, twenty-seven feet deep, and thirty-three feet high, outside measurement, and divided into three stories. The walls, which are two and a half feet thick, are made up of Harveyized nickel-steel armor plate, surrounded with rock concrete, which is reinforced with double and triple sections of 150-pound nickel-steel ribs. The main door of the vault is round, and three feet thick, and when closed makes an airtight fit with the door-frame. Although the door, with its bolt work and hinges, weighs fifteen tons, it can be swung with one hand.

The vault is equipped with the very latest and most complete system of time and combination locks, burglar alarms and electric lights. It is guarded night and day by patrolmen, whose work is made easier by passages round the four sides, underneath the bottom, and across the top, and by mirrors so placed that they can see around the corners.

PESKY BED-BUGS
(Pesky Devils Quilts) P. D. Q. is the new chemical that puts the ever-lustering to the Pesky bedbugs, fleas, ticks, ants and cooties—impossible for the pesky devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

Recommendations of Hotels, Hospitals, Railroads, Companies and others are a guarantee to the public that the safest, quickest and most reliable way of ridding the pesky insects is by the use of P. D. Q., as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing.

A like package makes a full quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, fleas, ticks or cooties, and contains a potent agent to get the eggs out of the hard-to-get-at places and furniture. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in a double strength, liquid form.

FEDAY EVENING, JUNE 23, 1932.

COST OF THE STRIKE.

The loss in wages of men participating in the miners' strike is only one and perhaps the most definite measure that can be applied in determining the cost of the almost complete suspension of a great industry, but it is precise enough to show the appalling waste that has been in progress during the past 12 weeks.In the state of Pennsylvania alone it is estimated that 322,000 mine workers employed at 1,232 different operations have ceased to draw semi-monthly pay because they have voluntarily joined in the strike or have been forced by the actions of others to quit work. Of this number 143,000 are in the 10 counties forming the anthracite region where 156 mines are idle. In the 23 counties where bituminous coal is mined 1,066 operations and 179,000 men have been affected.Based on an average daily wage of $5 the striking miners in the state have lost $1,614,000 per day, or a total of $112,582,100 during the 70 working days since the strike began. In Fayette and Westmoreland counties, forming the bulk of the coke region and including many large mines which produce raw coal only, it is estimated that 62,000 men have dropped from the payroll, entailing a daily loss of $310,000 in wages, or a total of $21,700,000 since April 1.To maintain the idle mines in a condition permitting quick resumption when the strike has been settled or the men decide to go to work, is costing the operators of the state $310,000 a day. To date this cost has aggregated $75,530,000. When taking into account the profit the operators might have made on the coal put of their mines had they been in continuous operation at the pre-strike rate, it is plain that the cost to the owners has been even greater than the loss in wages of the employees.But these costs to employees and employers, aggregating almost $190,- 000,000, are only a part of the stupendous economic loss which is being sustained. The decrease in freight traffic resulting from the closing of hundreds of mines has thrown thousands of railroad men out of employment and reduced the working time of others, and cut down railroad revenues proportionately.Various industries dependent upon the activity of the mines for business have been similarly affected, the owners and their workers suffering great loss.Every line of merchandising in the mining districts has had the volume of business so seriously curbed that it has been necessary to reduce clerical forces. Building and other enterprises are being held in abeyance and through all the ramifications of industry and business the retarding effects of the strike are being felt.The losses now being suffered because of the strike can never be reversed. Every day a worker is idle during which he can be gainfully employed. Even if the strike is won there will be no increase in the rates of wages thereby making it impossible for the workers to make up the deficiency in their earnings during the unproductive strike days.The same is true of the railroad workers and those in the industries and trades whose operation has been stopped or stopped by the strike.
Similarly every person who is even indirectly touched by the strike, and that includes practically every citizen in the republic, is suffering an impairment of his or her opportunities or earning capacity and to that extent is being handicapped in his or her progress.If all the losses directly traceable to the strike could be located and expressed in dollars and cents, they would form a prodigious and staggering total. Enormous as it would be it would not tell the whole story of the full cost of the strike. Mere contemplation of it ought, however, to create such an impression that the great public of America will rise in its might and demand that better and safer methods than wasteful strikes be employed to settle questions relating to wages and conditions of employment.A section of warring Ireland seems to have been transplanted in Illinois.The message of "continued improvement" from the mountain home of Senator Crow brings cheer to his legion of anxious friends.

Turn to the Courts

Cleveland Metal Trade.

The chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, Ben W. Hooper, takes a philosophic view of the chorus of disapproval with which recent wage awards by the board have been met in interested circles. Such an agency is bound to be "cussed" by both sides, he remarks, and he rather welcomes the condemnation of himself and associates as a safety valve for excess heat. He is sanguine that the railroad workers' unsettled though they be, will settle down to an acceptance of the situation as it has been decreed, just as the railroad owners and managers must. The general public will hope there is no misjudgment on this part.There are signs and they should be welcome, that labor is tending toward a new attitude with respect to judicial determination of disputes affecting its interests. They may well moderate feeling wrought up by disappointments over awards by agencies like the Railroad Labor Board.
Wishes to a logical conclusion, there should develop a disposition to put trust in the courts and arbitral tribunals with confidence that labor will get at least an even break. When we come to that we shall know that the worst phases of the "warfare" between capital and labor, so dear to the hearts of some persons, are in a fair way to be eliminated.Following the first case over the Supreme Court's decision in the Coronado case a number of loaders and advisers of labor began analyzing the opinion. First, all were for resistance. They construed the opinion to be against the legitimacy of strikes because the court held national unions may be indicted in damages for losses caused through violence in pursuance of strikes sanctioned by the controlling organizations.The court did not hold that losses resulting from strikes might be recovered, but only damages inflicted unlawfully. The principle advanced was that those assuming responsibility for strikes are reasonably responsible for controlling the conduct of those on strike. The dictum that a union, whether or not incorporated, may be sued implies that such an organization may sue. Do the loaders and leaders referred to are proclaiming that labor will resort to the courts to secure its legal rights just as capital has been in the habit of doing. It really does not matter that these men say they will use the courts as capital has harassed and oppressed labor. If they appeal to the courts at all it will be for justice.
We are confident they will get it in such degree that they will like the process very much more than any other method labor ever has employed to secure its rights.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

THE CARPET ON THE STAIRS.

Let others sing in modern ways,
I'll sing enough for me
To sing in good old-fashioned rhyme
The days that used to be.
The page of boyhood's perished full
With things we used to do,
The fun we had, the games we played,
The little tasks we knew.And back to mind there comes today
The harvest of our years,
The springtime job of pulling down
The carpet on the stairs.Housecleaning time meant weary legs
And hands and aching backs,
For no more tedious job there is than devising carpet tasks.
The mother told us what to do
And on our hands and knees
We stretched and heaved and pulled
And heaved and did our best to please.But, oh! I will remember now one task
In which patience wears,
That awkward, musing strain of job of carpeting the stairs.We'd start upon the topmost step and let the carpet roll,
But then began a few of the bravest soul.The corners must be folded so and stretched and finally tucked,
With mother watching every move as down the stairs we buckled.
And many a time we reached the end, and discovering there and then It wouldn't do at all that way and must be laid again.No more we break our finger nails and get our knees on fire
In stretching carpets on the floors,
no more our muscles tire.
No more the mother stands above our heads to tell us how to do,
That every task is driven home
the way it ought to be.The times are very different now, and no one ever shares
The joy and pain of long ago, while carpeting the stairs.

Lodge Holds Open Meeting

The Fraternal Order of Insurance Lodge organized here April 28 with 75 members, held an open meeting last evening at the Main street rooms here following an initiation of a class of 25.
Guests from Greensburg and Latrobe motored over. During the open meeting of the lodge talks were given by those interested in the organization.
Refreshments were served. Dancing was a feature of the evening. Among the guests present were Charles C. Paul, field manager; M. A. Jordan, district deputy; Andrew Shillinger, president of Latrobe Lodge; Mrs. Morrison, president of the Greensburg Lodge; Mrs.
Early, Mrs. Connelly and Supreme Deputy Mrs. Geisler of Latrobe.

Hospital Head-Elect Here

Mrs. G. M. Lake, who was recently elected superintendent of the Memorial Hospital to take the place of Miss Burroughs who resigned, was here yesterday from Coshocton, O., to look the hospital over before accepting.
Mrs. Lake seemed favorably impressed with the hospital and the community.

Missionary Society Entertained

Mrs. Catherine Herbert of Bridgeport entertained the Baptist Missionary Society at her home yesterday afternoon. Following the business meeting a social hour was held.

Baby Clinic

Miss Weiss, the Red Cross nurse, conducted a baby clinic at the East Main street rooms, with 11 babies in attendance. One baby gained 11 ounces during the past week. The clinic has been quite a success and will be conducted each week during the summer months.

Sunburn, Tan and Freckles

No woman need dread such disfig-urements if she will only treat the skin to a daily Buttermilk Cream massage.

Howard's Buttermilk Cream will bleach sunburn, tan and even freckles entirely from some skins and will make them much less conspicuous in others.

There is no secret about it—it's simply ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream, obtainable at all first-class toilet goods counters.

If you cannot obtain locally send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for generous trial package of both cream and soap, Howard Bros. Co., Buffalo, N.

Buttons and Personality

One of those business psychologists
—his specialty, we believe, is sales-manship—says that a man can be correctly judged by the third button of his waistcoat. If the button stands out as boldly as the other buttons he is the real thing; but if he caves in at this particular spot and the button is covered by wrinkles in his vest he is deficient in personality and pep and dynamism and all the other latest things that do for the button.

We wonder if the psychologists are not fooling themselves a great deal.
What becomes of this sure test of personality if the man has no waistcoat?
We wonder whether Lincoln's third button stood out manfully or was obscured by the wrinkles which, it pictures of him can be depended upon, were a distinctive feature of his dress.—New Bedford Standard.

REFRIGERATORS

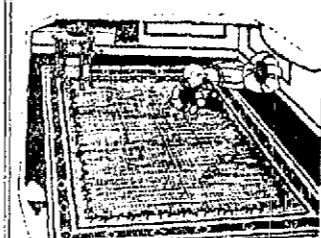

Guard Your Family's Health

with a GIBSON. They are scientifically constructed to prevent spoilage of food and consume very little ice. The purity and wholesomeness of every meal—as well as much of the tempting appeal—depends largely upon the efficiency of the family refrigerator.
That is why users so thoroughly appreciate the Gibson. For its scientific construction insures a constant circulation of pure cold air through every compartment, keeps all food appetizingly fresh, guarding the family's health and preventing waste from illness. Priced as low as $9.75.

Porch Swings $3.75

The swing shown above is of the three and a half foot size.
It is strongly constructed of quartered oak, and will give years of service. They come complete with chains for hanging. A real value.

Club Must Have Support to Continue on Schedule, Directors Say.

P. F. RILEYS OPPONENTS

The coming of tomorrow and the verdict it carries with relation to the continuance of independent baseball here are watched with interest by the lovers of the game who want to see the sport kept going. Every one is hoping his neighbor will turn out for the contest between the Connellsville Independents and the P. F. Rileys of Pittsburgh in order to pack the park with a satisfactory crowd and in a measure make up the deficit into which the team was plunged last week.

Tomorrow is the crucial day for the great old national game in Connellsville. The fans have been well acquainted with the facts concerning the status of the sport here. The club was over $100 shy in expenses last Saturday, when one of the best games ever witnessed here was played. If fans will not turn out for that sort of sport in the opinion of the directors, it will be well to disband the team before it becomes a millstone around their necks.

Every real ball fan in the city will make an extra effort to see one of the premier independent aggregations of the Pittsburgh district in action here by tomorrow afternoon. The Rileys, who undoubtedly the strongest team yet faced by Connellsville. It will be a big boost to the morale of the home team to have the grandstand and bleachers full of fans pulling for it. Attendance at the game tomorrow will serve a two-fold purpose. It will help to insure the continuance of the sport in the city and will also give every individual fan an afternoon full of first-class entertainment.

The women especially are urged to attend the games. The directors say they will like the big cool grandstand and then, also, the game is as much enjoyment to the American woman as to the man patriot.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. team of the local City League will play the Y. M. C. A. All Stars of the Dickerson Run League at that place at 5 o'clock Saturday evening.

The West Side Tigers defeated the Morrell All Stars on the West Side Green Saturday by a score of 10-1. Heavy hitting by O'Donnell and Riddan were features. Forkin Corrado and Davis formed the All-Star battery and O'Donnell, McNeill and Seconger the Morrell battery. Teams began on the ages of 14 and 16 years of age.

There will be no City League game today because the B & O team has dropped from the poll. The team had been scheduled to play the West Penn.

The All-Stars of the Dickerson Run "Y" League will play the Uniontown Athletics two games on July 4 at Dickerson Run, morning and afternoon.

The Pittsburgh Pirates played at home yesterday and once more on the old familiar grounds handed out a beating to the Chicago Cubs. The score was 8-6. At the same time New York was set back by Brooklyn 3-2.

The married men of Cambria defeated the single men last evening, 8 to 2.

Baltimore & Ohio formerly of the City League will play Kiaradale tonight at 8 o'clock at Poplar Grove.

OHIOPIE WINS OVER INDIAN HEAD TEAM
Ohio Pie defeated Indian Head 4-1 Ohio Pie Wednesday evening, 6 to 5. The score by innings:

Ohio Pie 000 100 02x-6
Indian Head 001 08T 000-5

Lewis Attacks $3.50 Coal Price; Hoover Rejoins Promptly

President Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Secretary Hoover have exchanged views as to the propriety of the $3.50 price for smokeless coal. Mr. Lewis started the argument by characterizing the price as "anything but fair" to the buyer.

"Mr. Hoover has fixed $3.50 as the maximum price for coal at the mines," he said. "The price allowed these same operators during the war was $2.45 a ton. Thus Mr. Hoover permits the operators today to charge $1.05 in excess of the liberal war price allotted by the government. It is not recognized that the mine operators have reduced the wages of the men who dig the coal, from 40 to 50 per cent. With the decreased mine cost, operators will make even more than $1.05 per ton profit over their war-time profits."

"Mr. Hoover's price may be a fair one, but it is not what I should term a fair price from the standpoint of the consumer."

The report courteous from Mr. Hoover came in the form of a telegram reading as follows:

"Your statement on prices of non-union coal entirely misrepresents the situation. Apparently you are misquoted or have not had the opportunity to learn the basis of the voluntary restraint on prices suggested by me, for it is based exactly upon your own proposition of war scales with changes proportionate to variation in production conditions up or down."

"In consequence, in several districts the prices are below war scale; in all districts are below the prices of ten days ago, except where operators refuse to cooperate, and the general level prices is $6 or $7 a ton below the wartime price of 1919."

"The administration in this matter is not injecting itself into the strike. It is trying to protect the general public from the results of the strike. This is purely voluntary on the part of the government in an endeavor to forestall suffering. The administration has been given no powers by Congress to control the situation and I feel justified in asking all well-intentioned men to cooperate rather than to obstruct."

School Teacher's Friends Made Glad

One of them had this to say yesterday. "We never thought that poor Ellen would ever recover, she had suffered so long from stomach and liver trouble and had lost more than 40 pounds in weight. She took a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy upon the advice of her aunt and has steadily improved from the first dose. We are all confident of her complete recovery." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Piles Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure piles.

Not do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation.

Send a fresh current through the stagnant points. Internal treatment is the one safe method.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., set at work some years ago to find a real internal cure.

He succeeded. He gave out the prescription HEM-1019, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied.

Now HEM-1019 is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It's easy to take, and can always be found at Connellsville Drug Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. —Advertisement

The Race Victory at INDIANAPOLIS The Road Victory at WICHITA Help You Choose Tires

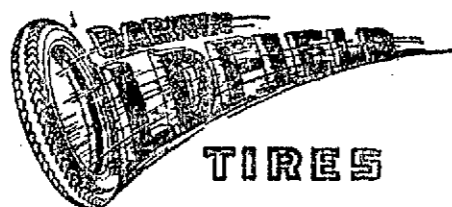

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the gruelling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kearney of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the gruelling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

U. S. Steel Will Develop Block of 16,000 Acres of Coal in Washington Co.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Pa., June 23.—The National Mining Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, will open two mines in Washington county, one in Carroll township, where an unusually extensive development is planned, and the other in Cecil township.

Ginger Hill, 14 miles east of Washington, on the Monongahela pike, has been selected as the site for the new coal town and development in Carroll township that will commence its existence with 700 houses and a population of at least 3,500. This development will steadily increase until a population of 10,000 will be reached and the houses will number 2,000 or more.

The United States Steel Corporation is opening a block of 16,000 acres of coal, extending from the Monongahela River almost to Eighty Four in Washington county. It is the last big unopened block of coal in the county with a river frontage, and the project will be one of the largest undertaken in the bituminous coal fields. The initial capacity of the mines will be rapidly increased.

The coal area coming into production was formerly held by the H. C. Frick Coke Company and the Mingo Coal Company, both of which are subsidiaries of the Steel Corporation. The field is in Carroll, Union, Nottingham and Somerset townships and in New Eagle borough.

In addition the National Mining Company has purchased all the interests of the Star Coal Company, including its title to Courtney, and part of the holdings of the Harrison-Walker Company, the balance of this company's property going to the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Work on the new mine is already under way. The Cecil township development will be about half the size of that at Ginger Hill. This new town will have a population of about 2,000. F. A. McDonald is general superintendent of the new company and the secretary is J. L. Lowther. The company's main offices are in the Frick Building, Pittsburgh.

CONTRACTOR IS LIKE A BRAND NEW MAN NOW

His Wife Also Took Tanlac With Wonderful Results, Declares Well Known Philadelphia Citizen.

"Tanlac has built me up fifteen pounds in weight and put me in shape to where I can do as much work in one day as I could in three before," is the emphatic statement of James A. Lynch, well-known cement contractor, of 5613 Carlton St., Philadelphia, Pa. "I had followed the habit of eating at irregular hours and gulping down my food in such a rush that my stomach was just about ruined and I suffered about all the miserable feelings indigestion can cause a man. I would blast terribly with gas and my heart would skip beats until my breath would almost stop. My nerves became so unstrung that I'd tremble like a leaf and have to sit down in order to get myself together."

"It took me hours every night to settle down to sleep and I got up mornings so weak and tired I could hardly hold my body straight, and when I stooped over to put the finishing touches to a cement job pain in my back nearly killed me. I had no idea a person's appetite and stomach were such good friends until mine went back on me. My awful condition had me thinking my useful days were just about over. I saw Tanlac piling up and here I was, not worth a nickel so far as work was concerned."

"Tanlac proved to be such a wonderful thing for my wife that I tried it too, and the first bottle convinced me that it was just what I needed. I have taken six bottles now and feel just like a man made all over again—a hundred per cent healthy. My stomach is in first class condition, my nerves are like iron, and I can hold my own with the best and swiftest workers in my line of business. I am always happy to recommend Tanlac for the good it has done my wife and myself."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Advertisement.

Bringing Him to the Point.

Miss de Mille-Papa has forbidden you to come to the house. He says you are a dangerous man.

"Dangerous? What can he mean?"

"He says you are the kind of man who will turn around a girl all her life and never marry her."

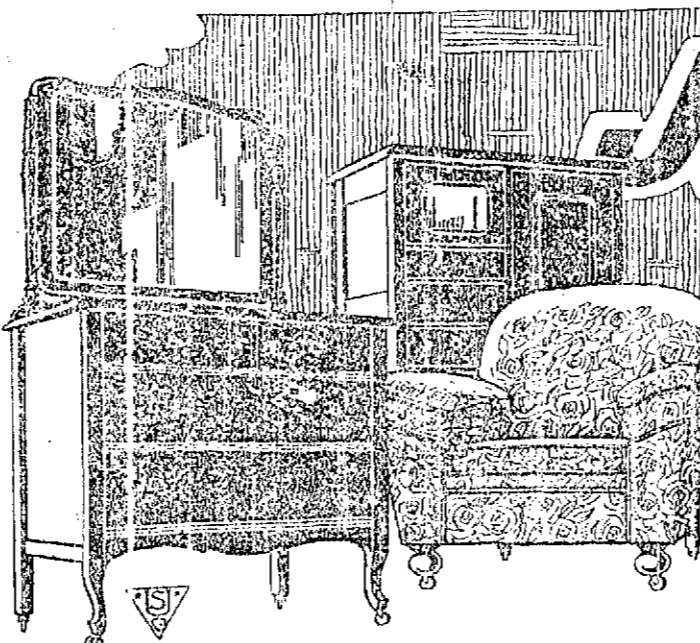

Then he proposed.—Scotman.

Compared With Six Years Ago New Car Building Is Slow

Reports continue as to increased activity in freight-car building and it is estimated that the number for this current year will be 160,000 compared with 58,000 in 1921, 106,000 in 1926 and 29,000 in 1919.

But how small these numbers are compared with the big figures of the past is indicated by the records of 1912, 1913 and 1914. Those figures have never been reached in all the intervening time, the nearest approach being 224,000 in 1912.

In fact, it might be said that the panic of 1907 marked the close of an era in railroad affairs. The dominant personalities of the early days dropped out from one cause or another about that time and closer governmental regulation became more and more of a vital factor.

Some will say that railroad cars of the present are larger than those of the past and therefore the same number are not required to haul a given tonnage. But the change in average size in the last 20 years has not been great. One must go back prior to the beginning of the century to find a materially lower average of freight car capacity.

The only mitigating feature would seem to be the fact that steel cars are stronger than wooden ones and they last longer. Also that with safety appliances and a more conservative operating policy in general, accidents are less numerous than they were and that tends to add to the life of cars.

Men Blind to Women's Sufferings

How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain endured by women in their own households, and often without a murmur? They have no patience when the overworked wife and mother begins to get pale, have headaches, backaches, faint spells, or is melancholy and cannot sleep. There is help for every woman in this condition, as evidenced by the many voluntary letters of recommendation which we are continually publishing in this paper for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to give it a trial.—Advertisement

STEEL MARKET GROWS QUIETER, BUT SUPPLY NOT MORE PLENTIFUL

Some Consumers, Decidedly Short on Stocks, Expect Production 10 to 15 Per Cent Greater Than April 1.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The steel market continues to grow quieter as to the quantity of turnover. This is probably merely a reflection of the season of the year and of the position of buyers and sellers, the former being comfortably covered in most cases while the latter are more actively well sold up. Neither buyers nor sellers seem disposed to commit themselves further ahead.

With the quieter market, steel has grown more plentiful and deliveries are in strong request. Some manufacturing consumers are decidedly short of steel, having order books that would enable them to operate at heavier rates than at present, but there is no evidence of ultimate consumers being seriously inconvenienced by not receiving rolled products or manufactured goods.

A premium market in finished rolled steel products has not developed to as great an extent as was expected, but there are some premiums being paid for early deliveries, generally $1 to $1.50 a ton.

Steel ingot production continues at a rate of about 30,000,000 tons a year, being 10 or 15 per cent greater than when the coal strike started. With an indefinite continuance of the strike

THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH

Has acquired exclusive right to publication in Pittsburgh of a series of special articles on business, finance and politics, with illustrations about New York and Washington people and events to be written daily by

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, Jr.

Scion of the prominent New York family of financiers, this young man early made up his mind that he would not follow the footsteps of his elders, but determined to blaze a trail of his own in journalism. Probably no man in newspaper circles has voluntarily undergone so rigorous and exacting an apprenticeship in various New York newspaper offices to qualify himself for his life's work. Hence, the special articles which young Vanderbilt will contribute to THE DISPATCH are to be judged solely on their merit and apart from any distinction that the name and standing of the writer might lend to them.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, Jr.'s Series of special news articles will commence

SUNDAY, JULY SECOND

and will continue to appear regularly each Sunday after that, only in

mills would still be able to maintain a very fair production.

It being generally believed that the steel market will remain quiet through July, with no important developments, the dispatch is to be made it as to which party, buyer or seller, will chance to have the "edge" when the time comes for starting in on early autumn business. It is most questionable conditions are regarded as too poorly defined to justify hazarding an opinion.

Big iron continues very quiet, consumers showing remarkable capacity for staying out of the market.

CHAPTER VIII

The Indian boys were plunging into the river when Erskine appeared at the opening of the old chief's tent next morning, and when they came out looking to their hair. He had forgotten the custom and he shrugged his shoulders at his mother's reproachful look. But the next morning when Crooked Lightning's son Black Wolf passed him with a taunting smile he changed his mind.

"Wait!" he said. He turned, stripped quickly to a breech-clout, pointed to a beech down and across the river, challenging Black Wolf to a race. "Whether they planned in and the boy's white body dove through the water like the arrow that he was. At the beech he whirled about to meet the angry face of his competitor ten yards behind. Halfway back he was more than twenty yards ahead when he heard a strangled cry. Verily it was a race to cover the humiliation of defeat, but when he saw Black Wolf rushing for the river bank he knew that the boy water had brought a cramp to Black Wolf, so he turned, caught the lad by his topknot, towed him shoreward, dropped him on the ground, and stalked back to his tent. His mother had built a fire for him, and the old chief looked pleased and proud.

"My spirit shall not pass," he said, and straightway he rose and dressed, and to the astonishment of the tribe emerged from his tent and walked forward about the village until he found Crooked Lightning.

"You would have Black Wolf chief," he said. "Very well. We shall see who can show the better right—your son or White Arrow"—a challenge that sent Crooked Lightning to broad awake in his tent and then secretly to consult the priest.

Later the old chief talked long to White Arrow. The prophet, he said, had been with them but a little while. He claimed that the Great Spirit had made revelations to him alone. What manner of man was he, a questioner, the boy—did he have ponies and pelts and jewel meat?

"He is poor," said the chief. "He has only a wife and children and the tribe feeds him."

White Arrow himself granted—it was the first sign of his old life stirring within him.

"Why should the Great Spirit pick out such a man to favor?" he asked. The chief shook his head.

"Crooked Lightning has found much favor with him, and in turn with the others, so that I have not thought it wise to tell Crooked Lightning that he must go. He has stirred up the young men against me—and against you. They were waiting for me to die. The boy looked thoughtful and the chief waited. He had not reached the end of his speech and there was need to put it in words, for White Arrow understood.

"I will show them," he said quietly. When the two appeared outside, many braves had gathered, for the whole village knew what was in the wind. Should it be a horse race first? Crooked Lightning looked at the boy's thoughtful and shook his head—Indian ponies would as well try to outrun an arrow, a bullet, a hurricane.

A footrace? The old chief smiled when Crooked Lightning shook his head again—no brave in the tribe even could match the speed that gave the lad his name. The bow and arrow, the rifle, the tomahawk? Tomahawks and bows and arrows were brought out. Black Wolf was half a head shorter, but stocky and powerfully built. White Arrow's sinews had strengthened, but he had scarcely used bow and tomahawk since he had left the tribe. He had the power but not the practice, and Black Wolf won with great ease. When they came to the rifle, Black Wolf was out of the game, for never a bullseye did White Arrow miss.

"Tomorrow," said the old chief, "they shall hunt. Each shall take his "Tomorrow," said the Old Chief, "they shall hunt." how and the same number of arrows it strikes and return at sundown. The next day they shall do the same with the rifle. It is enough for today. The first snow fell that night, and at dawn the two had started each with a bow and a dozen arrows. Erskine's weathervane had not suffered and the night's story of the wilderness was as plain to his eyes as a printed page. For two hours he tramped softly, but never sign of deer, elk, bear or buffalo.

And then an hour later he heard a snort from a thick copse and the end of an unseen body in flight through the brush, and he hoped after his tracks.

Black Wolf came in at sunset with a deer cub which he had found feeding apart from his mother. He was triumphant, and Crooked Lightning was grateful when White Arrow appeared empty-handed. His first hunt was useless and useless, and there was a knock the length of his forearm.

"Follow my tracks back," he said, "until you come to the hill." With whom two Indians have to away and in an hour returned with a buck.

"I run like a deer," said White Arrow, and lifted him with the lad, the "horned me" and went into his tent.

The tribesman and a woman of the tribe made no matter, for the day was the women need day—but White Arrow went another way to look for game. Each had two or three arrows, and White Arrow told them where they could find a deer, a bear, a wolf, and in the end, he showed them the path in the palm of his hand. And he noted now that the Indian girl was always an expert observer of each track, and that she was always leading him back to her to tell her where to go.

There was a feast and a dance that night, and Erskine could have sworn to his father and left the lad, young as he was, chief, but not yet was he ready, and Crooked Lightning too, bled his time.

Dressed as an Indian, Erskine rode forth next morning with a warlike belt and a talk for the council where the British were to meet. Shawnee, Iroquois and Algonquians and many others to enter the great war that was just breaking forth. There was one and every one of them a good hunter, and young as he was, a great success, but the old chief humbly looked at Erskine.

"He is young, but his feet are swift, his arm is strong, his heart is true, and his hand is old. He speaks the words of the prophet. He is a good man."

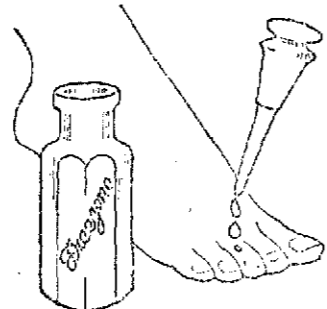

One question the boy asked in his mind: "The white woman said she had been with me to the council."
